About the College

The Madurai Diraviyam Thayumanavar Hindu College is one of the oldest educational institutions in Tamilnadu, with a rich history dating back to 1859. The institution was founded as an Anglo-Vernacular school. In 1878, the institution was upgraded to a college and named as Hindu College. In 1931 it was renamed as The Madurai Diraviyam Thayumanavar Hindu College bearing the names of the donor and his cousin.

The institution became a significant center for higher education. Initially affiliated with the University of Madras, the college transitioned to Madurai Kamaraj University in 1966 following the bifurcation of Madras University. When Madurai Kamaraj University was further divided, The MDT Hindu College became affiliated with Manonmaniam Sundaranar University, Tirunelveli, in 1990. Notably, Manonmaniam Sundaranar, a prominent Tamil scholar and playwright, served as the college's first principal.

The college is recognized by the University Grants Commission (UGC) and holds 2(f) and 12(B) status under the UGC Regulation Act. It is also accredited by the National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC) with B+ grade.

Over the years, the college expanded its offerings to include a wide range of undergraduate, postgraduate, and doctoral programs. As of now, it provides 9 undergraduate, 5 postgraduate and 5 Research programs in the aided stream, along with 3 undergraduate courses in the Unaided stream, covering disciplines such as arts, science and commerce.

Having celebrated its Centenary in 1979 and Post-Centenary Silver Jubilee (125) in 2004, the college is marching towards its 150th Year.
